LOCAL BUZZINGS.

News Notes—Personal Paragraphs and Other Doings at Home Worthy of Special Mention

We've all had Christmas.

Ripans Tabubiles come indigence. Very few of our citizens are recorded as having "a little too much Christmas."

It costs seventy-five cents in the workhouse to conceal dead bodies in weapons in Hopkinsville.

John Temple Graves, Georgia's greatest orator, can be heard in Madisonville the evening of January 3d.

The B. T. B. hall next Monday evening, January 2, 1893, at the Masonic Hall, this city, will be open to the public.

The meeting to name Sam Jones will have an opportunity to do so, and will begin a series of meetings at Hopkinsville next Sunday.

Locy Mary is frozen over, and everybody who has or borrows a pair of skates will be in line. The large crowds to be seen at all hours.

Louis Neiman, of Owensboro, is in jail at Greenville, Ky., charged with writing scurrilous letters to a number of young ladies of that town.

On getting reported and that was on Thursday when Geo. T. Taylor skated into an air-hole on the lake. Beside a good wading, he escaped unarmed.

Miss Pauline Davis gave an enjoyable party to her young friends Tuesday evening at her home. Dancing, games and other amusements were the order of the evening.

Section Foreman Dan Cates of Slaughter was married last Tuesday, at Kellies, a Miss Brashears being the fortunate lady. Congratulations to the happy couple and be happy.

The Heels public school closed last week after a few months' session. Miss Alice Mitchell, of Madisonville, was teacher the session just closed, and has given perfect satisfaction.

The for the past few days have been the heaviest ever handled in this city. Postmaster Farnsworth was equal to the emergency, and is not a candidate for the office under the incoming administration.

For pain in the stomach, colic and cholecystitis, there is nothing better than Chambord, Colic, Cholecystitis and Diarrhoea Kennedy. For pain in the St. Bernard drug store, Lexington; Ben T. Robinson, Morrisons Gap; and Geo. King, St. Charles.

Miss Mary K. Hale, the 15-year-old daughter of Thos. Hale, of Central City, was burned to death Christmas eve. Her clothing caught fire from lighted candles on a Christmas tree. Her body was burned to a crisp, and presented a ghastly sight.

W. F. Scott was in the city Monday, and informs us that he has no intention whatever of again entering the newspaper business, but will shortly take a position as commercial telegraph in a clothed house in Louisville. He is no longer in a cent purchase of a drug store in Central City.

W. H. Overby, Postmaster at Henderson, was in the city Saturday, and O'Callahan received a painful cut in his left arm. The assaulter party escaped. The trouble grew from a Christmas present O'Callahan's wife had received. The irate husband took to granite that Overby was the Santa Claus in the case, hence the assault.

Since Saturday last skaters were having genuine sport on Locy Mary's smooth surface. Skating was never more enjoyable than it has been, and the refreshments were of nearly no cost, as Locy Mary afford is, not to be found in every community. Lexington people are proud of their lake, and of the amusement it affords at all seasons of the year.

An Owensboro paper tells the following on one of the street car drivers of that city: "Owensboro streets at their best are not much to brag on, and the last few days of alternate freeze and snow have雪了, and the drivers had their condition."

The other day a lively portion of our worst and most frequent thoroughfares stopped a car. It was quite muddy at that point, left to go on with a skid, and the car skidded. The car got out of the car, and after a few moments, in the dark, down into something like solidity, and finding it a failure, set his foot in the mud and said "Lady if you will step on my foot you can get on the car without getting mucky."

There is a fact

The teachers and pupils of the public school desire to express their sincere thanks to the people who added so much in making up a success, and also to those who gave them the free use of the hall. The amount raised was about $6.

A scholarship for the business course, or the photographic or telegraphic courses at the renowned Commercial College of Kentucky University. For circulars address W. R. Smith, Lexington, Ky. See advertisement.

That true love goes sometimes by continues.

The School Supper.

The school supper, given by the children of the public school at Masonic Hall, last Friday night was a success. The receipts were upwards of twenty-five dollars, and the money will be used by the supper to raise funds with which to purchase an organ for the school.

The children, their teachers and mothers

FATTENING POULTRY.

Two Weeks Will Make the Birds Fit for Market.

Two weeks is sufficient time in which to fatten fowls for the market. But this demands conformity to certain conditions. The fowls should have full liberty. At this time it is not economy to give them opportunity for exercise. It is desirable that all the food taken should be used to make fat, not for strength of muscle. From eight to twelve may be shut in a small room together, where there will be nothing to distract them. If the room should partially darken, all the better. Let the birds have complete freedom, let their powers work toward digestion. The quickly fatted fowl is tender and most juicy. If no suitable room is available, a large coop may be constructed, with feeding troughs outside.

It is important that the feed should be clean, sweet and abundant. For this reason it should be placed so that they will not run over it or defile it. The object is to have the birds cram themselves, sit down quietly and digest, then cram again and so on to the end of the chapter. Now if they are confined in a coop having a tight bottom the place will soon become intolerably filthy. There should be openings or wide spaces on the floor, that it may be cleaned often, with sand or some suitable litter. Kept in this condition the fowls will take four squabs meals a day.

If there should be a quarrelsome one in the lot it should be separated from the rest. Such a fowl will peck the others from eating to the full, and distract the quiet which is necessary to the rapid digestion of the food. Fighting tends to leanness. Even scolding will use up food and prevent an oily, rotund condition.

There is no better food for fattening purposes the world over than sweet, finely ground corn meal wet up with water. The mixture must not be so dry as to be hard, but when it is it is no danger that fowls will get waterlogged on milk. Some southerners feed buckwheat meal, thinking that it renders the poultry better in flavor. There is no objection to mixing one-third buckwheat meal with the cornmeal as a change. The mixture should be seasoned with a teaspoonful of salt each day. Fowls that have dough for their rations will not require much water, yet fresh, pure water should be supplied, that they may drink when they thirst.—Poultry World.

Piles or Hemorrhoids.
This uncomfortable disease is the direct result of constipation. The hard masses in the intestines press upon the veins and finally engorges them in certain places. The blood, therefore, has been forced to take a roundabout way to the heart, causing pain, heat and trouble. There are but few cures known to us. To cure them we must abolish the cause, which is constipation. The patient is intelligent if of Caledonia, Linn, Fowler will be of service. In mild and chronic cases some little time may be required, but the good result is sure to follow. Price 25¢ at Robinson Bros' drug store.

Consumptive Cows.
Of all the human deaths that occur in the world it is reasonably estimated that one in seven is due to consumption or tuberculosis, and at least 3,000,000 persons perish from it every year out of the population of the globe. The recent remarkable development of bacteriology has directed special attention to the study of the disease. While in a majority of cases the fatal infection is derived from human beings affected with it, it has been amply demonstrated that in many cases it is conveyed to man from tuberculous cows through the medium of milk.

Although in large cities precautions have been taken to prevent or curtail the sale of adulterated, watered or skimmed milk by means of lactometer tests, there is no practicable method of detecting the milk of consumptive cows after it has reached the market for delivery to customers. Those who buy them therefore, be protected only by sanitary supervision of the dairy herds at sources of supply and by the eradication of the disease among them.

A Marriage Announcement.
A Washington woman was recently surprised to receive from her quondam washerwoman the following note: "I am very sorry I cant Wash for you any i am all Worked up and I have got to stop it as I am going to get married and try that a While. But i ma Bee worst of what all I always like to Work for you Best than any one else."—Washington Post.

The laws of health are sought in the schools, but not in a way that would be of interest to the scholar before the school so that all can hear the dry, long cough and know its significance, see the thin white coating on the tongue and later in the cold developed, and the patient will be educated to the watery discharge from the nose, not one of them would ever forget what the first symptom of a cold were. The scholar should be taught to know when a simple cold could be cured in one or two days, or at least greatly mitigated, when properly treated as soon as the first symptom appears.
